History.

The Texas Baptist Education Society was organized at the second session of the Union Association on Clear Creek in 1842. One special object was to establish a grand Texas Baptist University. This society obtained the charter of Baylor University from the Republic of Texas on the 13th of February, 1845. It was located in Washington county, at Independence, then on the greatest thoroughfare of Texas, and near the center of population. For many years it was the great educational center of Texas. The Trustees were prudent and liberal men, and did all in their power to select competent teachers and to provide buildings. But as the state developed, the town of Independence was left off the railroads and became inaccessible. By the entire change of the old system of labor and the influx into Southern Texas of foreigners, the character of the population was changed. The patronage of the University at Independence diminished from 250 students in 1861, to 32 in 1886. As the removal to some healthy point in Central Texas was deemed indispensable, in 1861, Dr. Burleson, with all the rest of the Faculty, removed to Waco, and Waco University was established.

Waco University was chartered in 1861, and has gradually increased from thirty-two students in 1861, to 305 in 1886, clearly demonstrating the suitableness of Waco for a great University. After the fullest and freest discussion in the State Convention and General Association, a special committee of eighty assembled by appointment, at Temple in 1886, and formally consolidated the two Universities, hereafter to be known as Baylor University, at Waco. A new and beautiful location of $23\frac{1}{2}$ acres, including Oak Lawn and Minglewood Park, was secured.

Rev. Henry L. Graves, D. D., LL. D., was President from 1846 to 1851.

Rev. Rufus C. Burleson, D. D., LL. D., was President of Baylor University at Independence, from 1851 to 1861, and of Waco University from 1861 to 1887, and has been President of Baylor University at Waco since 1887.

Rev. G. W. Baines, President from 1861 to 1862.

Rev. W. Carey Crane, D. D., LL. D., President from 1862 to 1885.

The work of this year in the art department has been more satisfactory than last, and the future promises still better results. The course next year will be more thorough and we hope to be provided with every facility for instruction. New casts and studies are being added yearly. Instruction will be given in drawing in pencil, charcoal and crayon; painting in pastel, water color and oil.

NOTE.—The tuition in the above Course shall not exceed that of the B. S. or A. B. Courses except for Elocution and Music. Extra charges are always made for Elocution and Music.

Degrees.

Baylor University grants to her graduates the following degrees: A. B., B. S., B. L. and B. O. Those who complete the Classic Course will receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A. B.); those who complete the Scientific Course will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science (B. S.); those who complete the Belles-lettres Course will receive the degree of Bachelor of Literature (B. L.); those who complete the Course prepared by the Lone Star School of Oratory will receive the degree of Bachelor of Oratory (B. O.); those who complete any of the Post Graduate Courses will receive their Master's degree. For honorary degrees see note at close of Post Graduate Courses and Degrees.

Post Graduate Courses and Degrees.

Candidates otherwise qualified, who have received the degree of A. B., B. S., or B. L., in Baylor University, or some other school of equal grade, may receive the corresponding Master's degree by completing a two-year's Post Graduate Course of Study, embracing one principal and two subordinate subjects, selected by themselves from the following groups of studies. The Course selected must first be submitted to and approved by the Faculty.

The Courses of Study for these degrees are grouped as follows:

I. Under Metaphysics; (1) Aesthetics; (2) Ethics; (3) Mental Philosophy; (4) Logic; (5) Philosophy of Religion; (6) History of Philosophy.

II. Under Political Science and History; (1) Comparative Constitutional History; (2) Constitutional Laws of the United States; (3) Jurisprudence; (4) History of Political Economy; (5) Political and Financial History of the United States.

III. Under Philological Science; (1) The Critical Study of Selected Greek and Latin Classics; (2) Greek Dialects; (3) Early Latin; (4) Greek and Roman Literature; (5) English Literature; (6) Old and Middle English; (7) German Literature; (8) American Literature.

IV. Under Sciences; (1) Mathematics; (2) Physics; (3) Astronomy; (4) Chemistry; (5) Botany; (6) Zoology; (7) Mineralogy; (8) Geology.

For the degree of Master of Arts or Master of Literature, the principal subject may be selected from any group, but, for Master of Science, from group IV.

An applicant for a Master's degree not corresponding to his Bachelor's degree may, in exceptional cases, be admitted by special arrangement with the Faculty.

Before receiving his degree the candidate must come before the examining committee of the Faculty, at least two weeks before the annual commencement of that year, and stand a satisfactory examination upon the course selected. He must also present to the Faculty, at least two months before his final examination, a thesis, on the principal subject of his course.

Every candidate for a Master's degree must pay a fee of ten dollars on announcing his candidacy, and an additional fee of ten dollars when the degree is conferred.

The Honorary Degrees of D. D. and L. L. D. may be conferred for distinguished success in the departments of literature and work pertaining to these respective degrees.

The Lone Star School of Oratory.

This school offers a complete course in every department of the science and art of expression.

The Analytic or Rush method of voice culture is used, while in gesture the Synthetic method is taught, together with all that is practical of the Delsarte system.

TIME REQUIRED.

To complete the entire course in Elocution and Oratory requires three years of forty weeks each, two and one-half hours per day.

A student may, by devoting five hours per day to the work, complete the course in two years.

A student may, by devoting his entire time to the work, complete the entire course in one year.

Graduation from the one year course, as well as from the others, must depend upon the ability of the student on entering and upon his ability to pass the required examinations at the close of the course.

GRADUATION AND DEGREES.

A student who completes the entire course, to the satisfaction of the Director, and makes a grade of 85 on the final examination, will, on the payment of $5, receive a diploma with the degree of Bachelor of Oratory. Provided—

1. No student shall receive a diploma without having devoted the required time to the study.

2. No student shall receive a diploma who has not a fair knowledge of advanced English Grammar, Rhetoric and English Literature.

3. No student shall receive a diploma without having prepared at least ten recitations during the last year of his course.

These recitations must be ready for public delivery by the close of each school month, and the selection and rendition must be such as will meet the approval of the Director.

4. No student shall receive a diploma who does not make a record for high moral character.

Students are required to consult with the Director in regard to reciting on public occasions, and in regard to the selection of recitations for public delivery.

EXPENSES.

1. Time sufficient to complete the course in two or three years.

(a) If the student is in any other department of the University, per year, $10.

(b) If the student is in no other department of the University, per year, $25.

2. Time sufficient to complete the course in one year, per year, $50.

Diploma and Graduation fee, $5.

A student paying $5 per month for Elocution will be admitted to any classes in English Grammar, Rhetoric or English Literature for $1 per month, extra.

Students will be charged from the date of entrance to the close of the current five months' term. Tuition will be refunded on same conditions as in other departments of the University.

PRIZES AND MEDALS.

At the close of each school year there will be a public contest for a number of valuable prizes and medals. Among other rules governing the contest are the following, which will be strictly adhered to:

THE CHAMPIONSHIP MEDAL.

1. Any person of good moral character, who has at any time been a member of the School of Oratory for at least five months, may contest for the championship, even though several months or even years have elapsed since said person was a member of the school.

2. Any person desiring to contest for the championship must notify the Director at least four weeks preceding the date of the contest, at the same time giving title of recitation on which he will contest. (Also see rule 5 below.)

OTHER MEDALS AND PRIZES.

3. No person shall contest for any of the prizes other than the championship, unless he shall have been a member of the School of Oratory for at least four months immediately preceding the contest.

4. No person shall contest for any of the medals or prizes unless he shall have recited before the public at least four times during his last term as student preceding the contest.

5. No student shall use any recitation in a contest for any of the prizes if said recitation has been prepared by said student for any other occasion than the particular one on which it is to be used.

EXTRA PRIZES.

6. No medals or prizes shall be awarded on the occasion of the annual contest except the regular list of prizes prepared by the Director at least four weeks preceding the night of the contest.

SPECIAL CATALOGUE.

Any one desiring a special catalogue of the School of Oratory, or any information relative to same, address

W. W. FRANKLIN, DIRECTOR,
Box 482, Waco, Texas.

Department of Music.

It affords us pleasure to announce to our patrons that the work of this Department during the past year has been even more satisfactory than heretofore, and arrangements are being made which insure even better results for the future.

Some of the prominent features of the Department are: Our many well ventilated, lighted and heated, class and practice rooms, good pianos, latest and most progressive methods, and competent, conscientious teachers, who are prepared to give thorough instruction on Piano, Organ, Violin, Guitar, and in Voice Culture, Sight Singing, Chorus Practice, Theory, Harmony and Musical History. We have a finely graded course and it is the aim of each teacher to advance the pupils as rapidly as conscientious teaching, time given by the pupil, and ability of same will admit. Special attention is given to beginners. The experience of twenty-five years' teaching has shown us that it is most important for the beginner to secure the best teacher possible, thus preventing bad habits that it often takes years to overcome, securing a full touch, elegant execution and correct and musical taste.

Pupils on entering our Department will be examined and assigned to such a position in the course as their qualifications will warrant. Having completed the Fourth Grade and passed a written examination in Theory, Harmony and History, the pupil is entitled to a Certificate of Proficiency through the Fourth Grade.

On the completion of the Fifth and Sixth Grades a

Finishing Certificate will be awarded.

Our course of study for Piano is as follows:

GRADE I.

Piano Forte Course of the N. E. Conservatory of Music, compiled by Carl Faelten, Carlyle Petersilea, Dr. Louis Mass and others.

Studies in Melody Playing.

GRADE II.

Carl Faelten's Technics, Preparatory.

Kohler's Studies, Op. 157.

Czerny's Studies, Op. 139, Book 2.

Matthews' First Lessons in Phrasing and Musical Interpretation.

GRADE III.

Brauer's Studies, Op. 15, Books 1 and 2.

Sonatinas by Clementi and Kuhlau.

Finish Faelten's Technics, Preparatory, and begin Petersilea's Technics, No. 139, Vol. I.

GRADE IV.

Finish Petersilea's Technics and begin Faelten's Advanced Course.

Krause's Trill Studies, Op. 2, Books 1 and 2.

Beethoven's Bagatelles, Op. 33.

Matthews' Studies in Phrasing, Book 1.

Normal Course in N. E. Conservatory Course.

GRADE V.

Mason's Touch and Technic, Part II.

Krause's Left Hand Studies, Op. 15, Books 1 and 2.

Bach's Little Preludes.

Matthews' Studies in Phrasing, Book 2, selections from the works of the best classic and romantic masters.

GRADE VI.

Mason's Touch and Technic, Part III.

Vogt's Exercises in all the Major and Minor Keys.

Bach's Two Part Inventions.

Pieces of Schumann, Raff, Chopin, Rubenstein, and several of Beethoven's great Sonatas.

We are happy to inform our patrons that the Music Department will hereafter be under the direction of Prof. G. H. Rowe, and a noble corps of teachers.

Prof. Rowe has attained brilliant success in Baylor Female College, and we have every reason to expect that our Music Department, so well conducted heretofore, will be enlarged and made all that Texas demands.

Art Department.

In no science has there been of late years more irregularity and more vacillation than in that of Painting. Many and various have been the models of instruction from time to time, all more or less failures in degree. Much good doubtless existed, or exists in most of these systems, but as they have been, for the most part, in opposition each to the other, it remains for us as teachers rather to select out of the mass than to bring forward new measures. Nature, unbiased by caprice, unchanged by fashion, is our only safeguard; but how to follow her dictates? This is our purpose—to instruct you in the best methods by which you can reach the painter's highest hope—that is, to imitate nature.

However exalted may be the student's opinion of his own private talent, or however great may be his hurry to get on in his studies, he should not begin to paint until he has learned to draw. This is the first great law for him to consider; otherwise he need never hope to do satisfactory work. It is, therefore, our purpose to pay special attention to beginners.

We will also give instructions in everything pertaining to Art—Crayon, Pastel, Water Colors and Oil.

MRS. EMMA HUMPHREYS,
Studio, Room No. 11, Baylor University.

Department of Bible Teaching.

B. H. CARROLL, D. D.,

Believing that "the Bible is the best of the Classics" we are pleased to announce to our patrons and friends that by a resolution, adopted May 29th, 1893, the Board of Trustees, after consultation with the President of the Faculty, added a special, but not compulsory course of BIBLE TEACHING to the Curriculum of Baylor University.

The class taking this course will be organized September 11, one week after school opens.

The revised version of the English Bible will be used as a regular text-book. The full course will cover a period of two years.

The first year will be devoted to a study of all the books of the Bible, in their order.

The second year correlates its more important teachings into a system of Doctrine and Discipline.

The class will recite at least three times a week.

It is not contemplated to confine membership in this class to ministers. That they will take the course is certainly expected. Any student, male or female, may be received, who desires to study God's word honestly, earnestly and systematically, and who will abide the class regulations.

Others, not even otherwise connected with the University, will be admitted to membership on equal conditions. There will be no tuition fees, but each member must provide himself with a contrasted edition of each testament and with the prescribed kind and amount of stationery.

Regulations concerning methods and conditions of admission and concerning the proper government of the class will be duly announced.

For the first year, or until a regular teacher is employed, Dr. B. H. Carroll will have sole charge of this class.

To those completing either or both departments of the course, the teacher may issue certificates of the fact, based upon regular recitations and final examinations.

In this connection we may announce that for the special benefit of ministerial students arrangements will be made for a series of lectures:

1. On Pastoral Duties and Church Order, by Dr. R. C. Burleson.

2. Preparation and Delivery of Sermons, by Dr. J. H. Luther.

3. On other important topics, by other lecturers, as may be arranged by the President of the Faculty and by Dr. Carroll.

J. T. BATTLE,
Secretary Board of Trustees.

The demand for Short-Hand writers is becoming greater every day. In this College one teacher gives his entire time and attention to teaching this branch. Full course, $40.

TYPEWRITING COURSE.

In connection with our Short-Hand Department, we have a Department of Typewriting. The student is drilled in writing testimony, drawing specifications, commercial correspondence and various other forms of work. The Remington, Caligraph and Hammond machines are used. Scholarship, $10.

COURSE IN PENMANSHIP.

This department is under the management of perhaps the best penman in the South, and is consequently prepared to give the best instructions to be obtained anywhere in this country. Course in Plain Penmanship, $20. Course in Ornamental Penmanship, $30.

TEACHERS.

Each instructor has been carefully selected, with special reference to his proficiency in the particular department entrusted to his care, while his efficiency in imparting his knowledge is enhanced by constant practice and experience. All that can be done by energy, enterprise and enthusiasm to promote the best interests of the pupils will be done in this College.

EQUIPMENTS.

Each department is elegantly equipped with the finest antique oak and walnut furniture. One of the banking counters cost $1,000.

Splendid Catalogue, Illustrated Journal and Specimens of Penmanship free on application. Address

E. E. CAMMACK, Principal,
Waco, Texas.

Normal Department.

PROF. J. C. LATTIMORE.

This is now one of the permanent features of the University work. The work consists in a series of discussions of the great underlying principles upon which all correct methods of school management depend, followed by a presentation of such methods as have been tried and found good.

Man, in his three-fold nature, is studied, that those who become teachers may not be ignorant of child nature—the delicate organism whose growth and culture they are to direct.

This is followed by a careful study of the duties which devolve upon those who assume the responsibilities of teaching.

Then comes the study of proper means of bringing the being to be taught and the matter to be presented into the most healthful and fruitful relations to each other.

The course continues through five months, and all who have been regularly admitted into the Preparatory or Collegiate Departments are entitled to its privileges without further charge.

This department is under the direction of a teacher who was trained at one of the oldest and best Normals in this country, and has had eleven years' experience as assistant, principal, and superintendent of public schools. He has taught in every grade, from the district school of one room to the high school and college, and has always endeavored to separate the truly meritorious from the superficial and worthless; and no pains will be spared to make this department especially valuable to those who are to become instructors of youth.

Summer Session and Normal Institute.

For several years there has been a growing demand for a Summer School that should afford opportunities for thorough review work in common, high school and collegiate branches, and at the same time enable the student to push his work into branches not hitherto studied.

This demand has come from young men and women wishing to bring up any irregularities in their courses so that they might enter regularly into collegiate classes, and from teachers whose preparatory educational advantages have been limited, and who feel that they can not do without two or three years' wages while attending college, but who are glad to avail themselves of opportunities for attending school during months when they must otherwise be idle, or at least only partially occupied.

To meet this demand the trustees have established a Summer Session and Normal Institute, beginning immediately after the close of the regular ten months' session.

In doing this they have such company as University of Virginia, Cornell, Harvard, Chicago University, Cambridge, and many other institutions, among the oldest and best in America and Europe.

For more particular information concerning the Summer Session, write to the President.

Public Rhetorical Exercises.

Hereafter, on Washington's Birthday, San Jacinto, Senior Reviews, Public Examinations and all other occasions where students are brought before the public by order of the University, the Public Rhetorical Exercises shall be under the direction of the Belles-lettres, Department.

It shall be the duty of the Professor of Belles-lettres in consultation with the President, to select or approve all themes or subjects and to approve all essays, orations and recitations, as to length and material. It shall be his duty, in connection with the President or Faculty, to arrange all programmes and to decide all questions relative to the same. It shall be his duty to see that the exercises are prepared at the proper time, and to keep a record of all programmes presented by the University before the public.

Opening and Annual Session and Vacation

The next annual session opens September 4th, 1893, and is divided into terms of twenty weeks each.

VACATION.

There will be only one vacation during the year, commencing at the close of the annual examination, and extending to the first Monday in September following, when the Ten Months session will commence.

MATRICULATION.

Every student on the day of his arrival in Waco must report to the President for matriculation and assignment of studies. No student shall be matriculated unless he presents to the President suitable testimonials of good moral character; and if he comes from another college he must also present a certificate of good standing and honorable dismissal from the institution he left.

Students can enter the Primary and Preparatory Departments at any age or advancement, but the earliest age at which it will be advantageous for a student to enter the collegiate classes is, if a male, the close of his 16th year, and if a female, at the close of her 14th year. But the President is authorized to matriculate a student at an earlier age, provided a sufficient reason exists and the parent or guardian places him or her under satisfactory moral supervision.

The form of matriculation is as follows: A student who wishes to enter upon the collegiate course, either regular or elective, must first present his testimonials of good character to the President, who, if satisfied, will fix a time when he will be examined and classified by the Faculty. He will then procure and read a copy of the laws of the University, and sign his name on the University register as a solemn and deliberate declaration of his full intention to obey all the laws so long as he shall remain a member of it, and not to withdraw from the University until the close of the session, except from absolute necessity.

No student shall be admitted to any recitation until he presents a certificate of matriculation from the President and a receipt from the Treasurer that all dues for the term have been paid. Students entering after the first month will only be charged from time of entering to the end of that term. Any teacher failing to enforce this rule shall be responsible for the tuition of that student. As soon as the student is matriculated the President shall furnish his parent or guardian a copy of the laws, also the studies to which he has been assigned.

ELECTIVE COURSE.

Students who wish to pursue an elective course of studies can do so by the request of their parents; or, if of suitable age, by their own request; but they will be required to recite with the regular classes, in similar studies. They can have all the privileges of regular students, and access to the library and lecture rooms, and are subject to the laws of the University.

WITHDRAWAL.

Permission of withdrawal shall not be granted except for ill health, inability to pursue College duties, or some unavoidable necessity, or by the written request of the parent or guardian. It is earnestly requested that no parent withdraw his son or daughter just before the examination, for trivial causes. Such withdrawals are highly disreputable and injurious to the student. Any student who shall leave the University without permission, signed by the President, shall be suspended ipso facto.

Discipline and By-Laws.

1. The discipline of the University is always as nearly parental as possible. The University is intended to be a great literary family, bound together by love, mutual interest and kind offices. Appeals will always be made first to the tenderest, noblest impulses of the heart. Severer remedies will only be used when these fail. A special Officer of the Day is appointed daily, whose duty it shall be to report to the President every disorder and violation of the law, and in the discharge of his duty he shall receive all the respect due any officer of the University.

To promote mental and moral greatness and restrain vice, the following By-Laws will be strictly enforced:

2. Every teacher is as much an officer of discipline as instruction, and will use his utmost diligence to suppress all disorders, to excite enthusiasm among his students, and to attend all examinations and reviews. No other duties must at any time interfere with his duties in the University.

3. Each recitation shall continue one hour, unless otherwise ordered by the Faculty. Every student shall be graded according to the daily recitations, from zero to five, a report of which shall be forwarded to the parent or guardian at the end of each month.

4. Upon the completion of any study a certificate of proficiency will be granted, and no pupil will be admitted into any collegiate study without a certificate of proficiency in the next lower study in the same department.

5. Disturbances in the chapel, or lecture room, or in any part of the College premises, shall incur a demerit of from two to ten.

6. Absence at the time of calling the roll, unless previous permission be granted, or the reason why that permission could not be requested, be rendered previous to 12 m. of the subsequent day, shall incur a demerit of from two to ten.

7. Absence from rooms after dark and before 9 p. m., a demerit of five; after 9 p. m., a demerit of ten.

8. Any student who shall ring the University bell, not directed to do so by the proper officer, shall be suspended or otherwise punished.

9. Any student who shall be guilty of talking in school shall receive two demerits; in recitation, four.

10. Any student who shall leave the University during study hours without permission, shall receive four demerits; and should he leave after permission has been refused, he shall be suspended.

11. For leaving seat or desk during study hours without permission, two demerits.

12. For leaving room during study hours, four demerits.

13. For lounging on streets or about stores or College building, four demerits.

14. Any student guilty of playing cards, or any game of hazard, shall be suspended or otherwise severely punished.

15. Any student who shall oppose or speak against the decisions and established rules of the Faculty in presence of other students, shall be publicly reprimanded, and on the second offense be suspended or otherwise punished.

16. Any professor or teacher may excuse a student from his room or recitation for a necessary cause, but not from the campus during College hours. To obtain such an excuse the student must present a written request to the President and receive his written permission.

17. When the President, however, is not on the University grounds, the Vice-President may exercise this prerogative.

18. Any student who shall be guilty of licentiousness, using ardent spirits, visiting drinking establishments, or nocturnal disorders, shall be suspended or otherwise punished.

19. No student shall be connected with any dancing school, society, or social club without the approval of the Faculty; and for a violation of this rule such a student shall be suspended or otherwise punished.

20. No suspended student shall come within the College campus except by special permission, but shall retire to such place for such time as shall be prescribed by the Faculty; and for the violation of this rule he shall be liable to expulsion and indictment before the courts.

21. Any student who shall associate with a suspended or expelled student shall be subject to expulsion.

22. Each student is required to attend Sabbath-school and also some religious worship twice on the Sabbath.

23. When the demerits of any student amount to twenty, it shall be the duty of the President to inform his parents or guardian of the fact; and when his demerits amount to fifty, to dismiss him from the University, or otherwise punish him, and inform his parents or guardian of the fact.

24. No student shall be allowed to graduate who receives one hundred demerits for violating University laws during his course.

25. Each student shall pursue diligently the course of study prescribed for him by the faculty, and failing to do so, he shall first be affectionately admonished by the Faculty, and, unless reclaimed, shall be suspended from the institution or otherwise punished.

26. If a student is unable from ill health to pursue his studies, he shall immediately request leave of absence. Until such leave be obtained he is held responsible for the discharge of his duties. When such leave of absence is granted, the President shall immediately notify the parents or guardian of the fact.

27. Any student guilty of using profane or obscene language shall be publicly reprimanded, and for the third offense shall be suspended or otherwise punished.

28. No student shall carry about his person or keep fire-arms or other dangerous weapons; and if found guilty shall be suspended or otherwise punished.

29. No young lady of the institution, boarder or day student, shall receive the attention or escort of young men. A violation of this rule will incur a heavy penalty, at the discretion of the Faculty. Books and beaux never go together.

30. Young men having sisters or other female relatives in the boarding house, can call on them Saturdays, at from 2 to 4 p. m., but at no other time, except by special permission from the President, Matron or Governess.

31. Young men must not visit or in any way intrude upon the chapel, study hall, recitation rooms or campus of the young ladies. A violation of this rule will subject the offender to suspension or public reprimand by the President.

32. The laws of the University extend over the whole period from the commencement to the close of the term, no portion of the week being exempt from them.

33. Any student who behaves improperly at church, or commits any act inconsistent with the deportment of a gentleman or lady, shall first be affectionately admonished by the President, and unless reclaimed he shall request the parents or guardian to withdraw him from the institution.

34. Every student shall be responsible for damage committed by him upon the furniture or other property of the institution; and for any such damage he shall pay such fine as may be assessed by the Faculty.

35. No student who is a minor shall open any account without the written permission of his parents or guardian, and every student is strictly required to make a monthly report to his parents or guardian of all his expenses.

Use of piano more than one hour a day will be pro rata.

Except by special contract, all tuition must be paid five months in advance.

No deduction except for long, severe personal illness or death.

Boarding Houses.

In order that pupils may have as nearly as possible the refining influences of true homes thrown around them, that they shall be regular in attendance on all their recitations, and guarded against improper associations, the Trustees in consultation with the Faculty, have made the following arrangements:

1. The President will keep a list of approved boarding houses for the accommodation of male students, but no one will be allowed to board in any family the head of which will not report all violations of law when called upon, or where there are persons likely to lead them astray.

2. Maggie Houston Hall.—By a plan similar to that adopted in the colleges at Georgetown, Ky., and Richmond, Va., our young preachers and other worthy young men have been comfortably boarded for $8.85 per month. This calculation is based on the fact that four pupils occupy a room. Then the cost per pupil in furnishing the room with two bedsteads, two mattresses, four chairs, table, lamp, broom, bucket, washpan and looking-glass, will be about $4 for five months, or 80 cents each per month. Hence the entire expense of each pupil per month is $8.85, itemized as follows:

Fuel.....	$.40
Light.....	.15
Table board.....	6.50
Room rent.....	1.00
Room furniture.....	.80
Total.....	<hr/> $8.85

No young man will be received into the Hall, except on the best evidence of moral character, and also on a pledge to aid the Faculty in preserving the property and to obey the rules and regulations of the University. He must further be sixteen years of age. Our experience is that boys under that age do much better in a strictly private family. The success of the Hall has been eminently satisfactory, and the Faculty earnestly commend it to students. It is under the special supervision of Prof. W. H. Long and wife, assisted by other teachers.

3. Georgia Burleson Hall.—All young ladies not living in Waco are required to board in the Georgia Burleson Hall, a magnificent building with seventy-five rooms, erected and furnished especially for that purpose. Young ladies may board with a near relative, who will promise to see that all rules of the University are faithfully observed, and report to the President every violation of law.

The advantages of boarding in the institution, however, must be patent to all from several reasons:

(a) Better accommodations and at cheaper rates than can be found elsewhere. (b) Systematic hours of study and recreation. (c) Protection against interruption of every kind. (d) The watchful care and counsel of the lady teachers in all the details of general deportment and social etiquette. No private family can afford equal facilities for study and general improvement.

Parents are earnestly requested not to send boxes of edibles to their daughters. We desire to assure them that there will be no cause to complain of the fare furnished the young ladies.

The occupants of each room will be held responsible for proper care of the furniture therein, and charged with any unnecessary damage or loss.

SPECIAL REGULATIONS.

Each young lady will furnish her own towels, soap, combs, brushes, pillow-slips, sheets, two blankets and napkins. She is also expected to provide herself with one spoon, knife and fork, saucer and goblet, for use in her room. This regulation is to prevent the dishes of the dining room being taken up stairs. Each young lady is required to have every article of her wardrobe legibly marked with her full name.

Young ladies are required to study two hours at night and at such other times as the Faculty may direct. Each boarder is required to attend Sunday-school and church under the supervision of the governess, or some of the female teachers.

Correspondence will be under the direction and inspection of the governess. No letter or note shall be sent to or from the boarding house without her approval. Any student sending or carrying communications, except such as may be approved by the presiding teacher, will be liable to suspension.

Boarders cannot be allowed to spend the night with friends in the city, and it is earnestly hoped that no parent will make any such request.

Our boarders are not allowed on the streets unless accompanied by a teacher; nor to open accounts at any store; nor to make any purchases without the approval of the teacher in charge; nor to borrow from, nor to lend to each other money, jewelry or clothing.

UNIFORMS.

There are many reasons why uniformity of dress should be a positive requirement in a boarding school. The children of the rich and the poor are necessarily brought together in the school room, and anything that makes marked distinction in dress is both unwise and unjust. The adoption of a plain, simple, and inexpensive uniform places a check upon the extravagance of such as are fond of display, and removes all causes of mortification on the part of those unable to afford it. Extravagant display is a blighting curse on our country, and the seeds are often sown in a boarding school where pride to excel in expensive dressing is allowed to prevail. The uniform will not be required as a daily dress, but must be worn on all public occasions.

The uniform for the fall and winter term will not be decided on until after the opening of the school, hence young ladies will not be required to be in uniform until a month or so thereafter. We intend that it shall be neat and inexpensive. To secure entire uniformity and the greatest cheapness, it should be purchased and made in Waco. It can be made at home, however, if parents prefer.

For every day use plain dresses must be worn. This will be insisted on. Parents are requested not to allow their daughters to purchase and wear handsome and expensive jewelry while at school, as all such unnecessary ornaments will be entirely out of place with their simple dress. We hope to have the hearty support of parents in this particular, as well as in all other matters pertaining to the interest of the University.

When it is desired that any article of dress should be procured after reaching school, Mrs. Virginia L. Greer, or a responsible teacher, will take pleasure in directing the purchases of the young ladies and in securing the best terms for them.

A deposit sufficient to meet all expenses of this character must be made with Prof. James F. Greer before the purchase, and the pupil will be limited to the amount deposited. No money will be advanced to any pupil beyond what she may have to her credit, unless by special arrangement previously made.

All mail matter, express packages, telegrams and money for the young ladies should be sent in care of Prof. James F. Greer.

DISCIPLINE.

The discipline in the Georgia Burleson Hall will be mild but firm. If pupils come with the expectation of doing right because it is right there will be no trouble. Our cardinal principle will certainly be insisted on—prompt obedience to every rule of the department, and its reasonableness or unreasonableness will not be argued with the pupil. All that can be done by careful oversight, private admonition, and personal appeal, will be done to secure cheerful obedience to our regulations.

Location and Health.

As a healthy location Waco is unsurpassed. It is situated on the western bank of the Brazos river, having no bottom lands for some distance above and below, and a high rolling prairie commencing at the bank of the river and extending fifty miles south, giving an elevated position with the full benefit of the south breezes and above malaria or any local causes of sickness in summer. Waco is also protected on the north and east by the cedar hills of the Bosque and the dense "Cross Timbers;" and is thus protected from the fierce north winds producing pneumonia in winter. Besides, monthly statistics recently published by the cities of Waco, Boston and San Antonio, demonstrate the fact that Waco is healthier than these great cities, considered the healthiest in the United States. And with Waco's recently developed artesian wells her health will be increased at least five per cent. The hospitality, the intelligence and the enterprise of Waco are widely known and she has long been known as the "Athens of Texas," and the "City of Churches and Schools."

TEXAS EDUCATION.

We have every reason to be gratified at the amount of patronage we have received; yet, can but regret the disposition of some parents to send their sons and daughters to distant states. Such parents seem to forget that they are depriving them of many of the sweetest joys of future life—the joys of meeting everywhere old school-mates—and also a powerful means of success. A student remaining in Baylor University three or four years will form intimate and pleasant associations with three or four hundred young men and ladies from every part of Texas.

Besides all this, it is a fact that colleges, like states, usually produce their greatest men while young and struggling for "a name and place in history." Baylor University boldly challenges a comparison between her students and those Texas students educated in other institutions. Not less than 300 students are sent out of Texas annually at a cost of $300,000—a sum sufficient to sustain two such institutions as Yale or Harvard; and abundant facts show that young men and ladies educated in Texas are in every way equal to those educated in other states. But this evil has well nigh run its course. Experience is a dear school, but a certain class of the human family can learn in no other way.

FINANCES.

We shall be compelled in the future to be more rigid in collecting tuition and board. We have been greatly embarrassed in carrying forward the University to its high position. Patrons must, when they enter their sons and daughters or wards, pay their tuition and board bills in advance. This will be insisted on in every case. In case of protracted personal illness or death, money paid in advance will be refunded; but in no other case. No money in future will be advanced on the current expenses of students. Parents must make a deposit to meet such expenses. Parents should not remit money to students for extra clothing, except upon the request of a teacher. Hundreds of dollars are uselessly spent in this way every year, to the great injury of the parent's pocket and a far greater injury to the student's progress and Baylor University.

YOUNG PREACHERS AND PREACHERS' CHILDREN.

No young preacher will be received as a beneficiary in the University unless he is a licentiate and brings a certificate that his church believes he is called of God to preach and will aid as far as possible in his support. We entreat brethren to be careful whom they recommend. Recommend none but the humble, the pure and the true. Every young minister will hereafter give a note for the amount of his tuition and for the amount furnished him by the educational fund, payable six months after he enters upon any other calling or profession, or ceases to devote his time to preaching. We want to help no young man who will not help himself, and whose soul is not burning with a desire to preach the gospel and who will not manifest that desire by preaching at least once a month while in the University.

All Baptist preachers in active work of the gospel ministry, who will become active agents for the enlistment of students for Baylor University at Waco, and who will undertake to give the institution the full benefit of their influence in their respective circles, shall have tuition for their minor children in the regular course without other charge than matriculation and graduation fees.

EXTRAVAGANCE.

It is difficult to control in matters of money spending where there is such a diversity of taste and means among our patrons and students. But all experience in colleges and universities demonstrates that the unrestrained use of money ruins the one guilty of the folly. Every dollar furnished to students beyond actual wants—as seen in the published rates, or signified in writing to parents by the teacher—is a positive injury to the student and university.

MORAL AND RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

The faculty will constantly aim to imbue the mind and heart of the student with a deep sense of honor and moral excellence. As the Bible is the only foundation of morals and religion, its teachings will be often and solemnly enforced. Although the University is a Baptist institution and belongs to the Baptist denomination, nothing sectarian will be taught in the daily recitations. Special attention will be given to Sabbath-school instruction and Bible classes; and every student is required to attend public worship at such place as his parent or guardian may designate; and his attendance at church and Sunday-school shall be entered on his monthly report. If no special place is designated the young ladies will accompany the teacher to the Baptist church. All secular studies, reading and correspondence are forbidden on the Sabbath. No student will be retained in the University who does not observe these regulations. All reading of novels is forbidden, unless selected by parents or teachers.

PHYSICAL CULTURE.

The utility of physical culture is so evident that we need not speak of it at length. It affords relief to the monotony of the school room, arouses the mental energies of the pupils, and seldom fails to give life and zest to the recitations which follow. The success of light muscular gymnastics warrants us in making this a permanent feature in the University. We will henceforth have a perfect department of gymnastics and calisthenics, not to divert from but to aid in study.

BAYLOR CADETS AND CALISTHENICS.

Though character-building is the grand aim of Baylor University, great attention is paid to health and physical culture. We say to all our students, as that disciple whom Jesus loved said to the well beloved Gaius, a merchant prince of Corinth: "Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest be in health." A healthy, sound body is next in importance to a cultivated head and a pure heart. To promote health and physical development, we have organized a fine military company —Baylor Cadets—for our young men, and a large class in calisthenics for our young ladies. By the special courtesy of Gov. Ross and Gen. King, the Baylor Cadets received a full supply of guns and all the outfit necessary for military training. Efforts are being made to have an officer of the United States army detailed as a special commandant of cadets.

ANNUAL EXAMINATION.

There will be an annual examination, at which all the students will be examined thoroughly and impartially in the several studies they have pursued, so that the friends of the institution may judge of the real progress of the students during the previous term, and that the students may be properly classified for the next term. All examinations for graduation shall be in writing. Any student deserting or quitting, except from absolute necessity, will be so reported publicly and not allowed to return. Our examinations are not dress parades, but for real mental drill, and it is a great loss for any student not to stand the examination.

CO-EDUCATION.

Thirty years ago, after profound reflection and investigation, we adopted co-education of the sexes. The curriculum of male and female classes, as will be seen, is different in some respects, each pursuing those studies appropriate to the sex and future duties of life. Yet when their studies are the same they recite in the same classes and meet daily in the same chapel.

They occupy separate grounds for exercises and separate buildings for study and boarding.

This plan not only excites greater diligence in study, but cultivates in young men manliness and morality, and in young ladies neatness, order and modesty.

This plan also greatly diminishes that useless sentimentality and clandestine correspondence so common among students. Daily intercourse under the eyes of the teachers, and rivalry in study, destroy that enchantment which distance always lends.

We have tried both systems and know whereof we affirm, from long experience and close observation.

During the last twenty-nine years Waco University has graduated more young ladies than any institution west of the Mississippi river, and we challenge any institution in America to show higher models of scholarship, neatness, modesty, and all qualifications which adorn the true woman.

After witnessing such results we are not surprised to see the great universities of the world, such as London, Oxford, Cambridge, Edinburg, Copenhagen, Harvard, Cornell and Michigan, have adopted, to as great an extent as possible, co-education. Among the notable recruits to co-education is Chicago University, with her $20,000,000.

The old Catholic monkish system of education must give way before the march of progress and common sense.

OUR FIVE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Nothing more clearly indicates the life and prosperity of Baylor University than the flourishing condition of the Philomathesian, Erisophian, Adelpian, Calliopean and Rufus C. Burleson Societies.

Three of these are composed of gentlemen and two of ladies.

These societies are intended to awaken and cultivate a love of reading and literary taste, and to drill the student in oral debate and writing essays, and a profound practical knowledge of parliamentary usage in conducting deliberative assemblies. Every student is urged to become an active member of some one of these societies.

The Adelpian Society is composed of young preachers, and devoted especially to theological investigations and discussions of all the doctrines of the Bible.

History.

The Texas Baptist Education Society was organized at the second session of the Union Association on Clear Creek in 1842. One special object was to establish a Texas Baptist University. This society obtained the charter of Baylor University from the Republic of Texas on the 13th of February, 1845. It was located in Washington county, at Independence, then on the greatest thoroughfare of Texas, and near the center of population. The Trustees were prudent and liberal men, and did all in their power to select competent teachers and to provide buildings. But as the state developed, the town of Independence was left off the railroads and became inaccessible. By the entire change of the old system of labor and the influx into Southern Texas of foreigners, the character of the population was changed. The patronage of the University at Independence diminished from 250 students in 1861, to 32 in 1886. As the removal to some healthy point in Central Texas was deemed indispensable, in 1861, Dr. Burleson, with all the rest of the Faculty, removed to Waco, and Waco University was established.

Waco University was chartered in 1861, and gradually increased from thirty-two students in 1861, to 305 in 1886, clearly demonstrating the suitability of Waco for a great University. After the fullest and freest discussion in the State Convention and General Association, a special committee of eighty assembled by appointment at Temple in 1886, and formally consolidated the two Universities, hereafter to be known as Baylor University, at Waco, Texas. A new and beautiful location of 23½ acres, including Oak Lawn and Minglewood Park, was secured.

Rev. Henry L. Graves, D. D., LL. D., was President from 1846 to 1851.

Rev. Rufus C. Burleson, D. D., LL. D., was President of Baylor University at Independence, from 1851 to 1861, and of Waco University from 1861 to 1887, and has been President of Baylor University at Waco since 1887.

At Independence Rev. G. W. Baines was President from 1861 to 1862; Rev. W. Carey Crane, D. D., LL. D., from 1862 to 1885; Rev. Reddin Andrews, D. D., from 1885 to 1886.

Post Graduate Courses.

Candidates otherwise qualified, who have received the degree of A. B., B. S., or B. L., in Baylor University, or some other school of equal grade, may receive the corresponding Master's degree by completing a two-year's Post Graduate Course of Study, embracing one principal and two subordinate subjects, selected by themselves from the following groups of studies. The Course selected must first be submitted to and approved by the Faculty.

The Courses of Study for these degrees are grouped as follows :

I. Under Metaphysics; (1) Æsthetics; (2) Ethics; (3) Mental Philosophy; (4) Logic; (5) Philosophy of Religion; (6) History of Philosophy.

II. Under Political Science and History; (1) Comparative Constitutional History; (2) Constitutional Laws of the United States; (3) Jurisprudence; (4) History of Political Economy; (5) Political and Financial History of the United States.

III. Under Philological Science; (1) The Critical Study of Selected Greek and Latin Classics; (2) Greek Dialects; (3) Early Latin; (4) Greek and Roman Literature; (5) English Literature; (6) Old and Middle English; (7) German Literature; (8) American Literature.

IV. Under Sciences; (1) Mathematics; (2) Physics; (3) Astronomy; (4) Chemistry; (5) Botany; (6) Zoology; (7) Mineralogy; (8) Geology.

For the degree of Master of Arts or Master of Literature, the principal subject may be selected from any group, but, for Master of Science, from group IV.

Before receiving his degree the candidate must come before the examining committee of the Faculty, at least two weeks before the annual commencement of that year, and stand a satisfactory examination upon the course selected. He must also present to the Faculty, at least two months before his final examination, a thesis, on the principal subject of his course.

Every candidate for a Master's degree must pay a fee of ten dollars on announcing his candidacy, and an additional fee of ten dollars when the degree is conferred.

Degrees.

Baylor University grants to her graduates the following degrees: A. B., B. S., B. L. and B. O. Those who complete the Classic Course will receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A. B.); those who complete the Scientific Course will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science (B. S.); those who complete the Belles-Lettres Course will receive the degree of Bachelor of Literature (B. L.); those who complete the Course prepared by the Lone Star School of Oratory will receive the degree of Bachelor of Oratory (B. O.); those who complete any of the Post Graduate Courses will receive their Master's degree.

The Honorary Degrees of D. D. and LL. D. may be conferred for distinguished success in the departments of literature and work pertaining to these respective degrees.

REMARKS--Students entering this department will be classified according to their advancement. Upon the completion of any course outlined above each student will be given a certificate of graduation from the department signed by the President of the University and the Principal of the Department, which certificate will admit him to the Freshman Class of the course he is pursuing.
We invite teachers and others interested to notice carefully the advantages offered by our Preparatory Course. It embraces nearly every branch required for a first grade certificate. All students of this department are admitted free to the class in Pedagogy. Spelling and penmanship continue through the entire course.

The Lone Star School of Oratory.

This school offers a complete course in every department of the science and art of expression.

The Analytic or Rush method of voice culture is used, while in gesture the Synthetic method is taught, together with all that is practical of the Delsarte system.

TIME REQUIRED.

To complete the entire course in Elocution and Oratory requires three years of forty weeks each, two and one-half hours per day.

A student may, by devoting five hours per day to the work, complete the course in two years.

A student may, by devoting his entire time to the work, complete the entire course in one year.

Graduation from the one year course, as well as from the others, must depend upon the ability of the student on entering and upon his ability to pass the required examinations at the close of the course.

GRADUATION AND DEGREES.

A student who completes the entire course, to the satisfaction of the Director, and makes a grade of 85 on the final examination, will, on the payment of $5, receive a diploma with the degree of Bachelor of Oratory. Provided—

1. No student shall receive a diploma without having devoted the required time to the study.
2. No student shall receive a diploma who has not a fair knowledge of advanced English Grammar, Rhetoric and English Literature.
3. No student shall receive a diploma without having prepared at least ten recitations during the last year of his course.

One each of these recitations must be ready for public delivery by the close of each school month, and the selection and rendition must be such as will meet the approval of the Director.

4. No student shall receive a diploma who does not make a record for high moral character.

Students are required to consult with the Director in regard to reciting on public occasions, and in regard to the selection of recitations for public delivery.

SPECIAL CATALOGUE.

Any one desiring a special catalogue of the School of Oratory, or any information relative to same, address

PIANO FORTE.

As it would occupy too much space and be of no special value to enumerate all of the individual studies in our six grades, we will submit a synopsis only of our general work.

I. The six grades, completing the five years' course, will begin with the studies of Kohler and Doerner's Method of Technique, passing on through the graded studies of Loeschorn, Brauer, Heller, Bertini, Czerny, Octave Studies, Cramer, Moscheles, Bachs' Inventions, Bachs' Preludes and Fugues, Clementi Gradus ad Parnassum.

II. With the foregoing will be used easy selections, in the form of solos, duets, quartets, etc., leading to the more classical works, including Sonatines and Sonatas, and the other compositions of Bach, Mendelssohn, Beethoven, Mozart, Haydn, Liszt, Raff and others.

CLAVIER.

One of the most efficient helps in the art of piano playing is the "Virgil Practice Clavier." By its use the student acquires technical skill and a perfection in performing not to be attained by piano practice alone. Free use of this instrument is allowed to each student in music.

VIOLIN.

The exercises in this Course will be in six grades, commencing with a study of technical finger and bowing exercises, easy tone selections, etc., afterwards embracing such methods as Tour's, DeBeriot's, Ries', Mazas', Pleyel's, Alard's, David's, Kreutzer's, Schradieck's and other studies, passing on through the different grades as they come in order. In the advanced grades, the solos of Rhode, Viotti, Fiorillo, Kreutzer, also the classical compositions of Haydn, Schubert, Schumann, Bach, etc., will be introduced in their proper order.

GUITAR, MANDOLIN.

Exercises from the Methods of Carcassi and Carruli on guitar, and Christifaro and Pietrapertaso on mandolin, together with popular selections from authors of this style of music, will be used in this Course.

WIND INSTRUMENTS.

This department will be presided over by a competent instructor, and ensemble playing will be given special attention.

VOCAL PHYSIOLOGY AND VOICE CULTURE.

This branch of study will embrace four grades, making a graduating course of three years, as follows :

FIRST GRADE.

Lessons in the Physiology of the Voice and the Organs of Respiration; Exercises for developing medium voice, chest voice, head voice ; Practice for uniting medium head and chest ; Light Ballads.

SECOND GRADE.

Practice of Slow Scales, Rapid Scales, Arpeggios, Study of the Turn, Vocal Technique, Italian and English Songs.

THIRD GRADE.

Scales, Solfeggi, Trills, Chromatic Scales, Lutgen Exercises, Book 2, Selections from the Italian Operas, English and German Songs and Operas.

FOURTH GRADE.

Study of Oratorio Music from Handel, Haydn, Mendelssohn, Selections from English and Italian Arias and Songs ; Marchesi's Vocalises, Op. 15, Books 3 and 4.

SIGHT SINGING AND CHORUS DRILL.

The system employed will be the practical and comprehensive "National Music Course," by Mr. Luther W. Mason.

THEORY.

Lectures in Elementary and Theoretical exercises, will be given weekly by the Director of Music, outside of the regular studies, to which each member of the Conservatory will be granted free admittance.

HARMONY.

The exercises in this Course are taken from "Goodrich's Analytical Harmony," from the composer's standpoint. It is the latest and most comprehensive work extant.

ANALYSIS.

This is supplementary to the prescribed course in Harmony.

HISTORY.

This class is open to all students, and will embrace the reading and analysis of Musical History from the earliest known period down to the present time. Essays by members.

HONORS.

Diplomas will be granted by the Board of Trustees to students, on recommendation of the Conservatory Faculty, and on the completion of a prescribed course of study, including two year's in Harmony, with Analysis, making five years in the course. The attainment of a diploma will be a high grade of honor not obtainable through any other channel than as herein specified. Students may be fitted for the profession as teachers, and in order to elevate our Conservatory of Music above reproach we cannot recognize or recommend any student as a teacher who has not secured a diploma under the conditions specified.

RECITALS.

Public and private recitals are given every two weeks in order to inspire the students with confidence, as well as to give the parents and friends an opportunity to view the work of the department and its progress from term to term. At the close of the school year will be given the senior class public recital, also the grand concert, which will take place in connection with the Commencement exercises.

PRIZES.

Goggan—Piano, (first) Gold Medal.

—Piano, (second) Gold Medal.

Mitchell—Vocal, Gold Medal.

Cooper—Violin, Gold Medal.

Rowe, Mrs.—Theory, Set of Books.

Art.

MRS. EMMA HUMPHREYS, PRINCIPAL.

First Year. Use of crayon, charcoal and pencil in drawing from the flat and from objects.

Second Year. Drawing from casts. Studies from features, hands and feet, busts, etc. Painting in pastel, water color and oil.

Third Year. Drawing and painting from life and from nature. Portraiture. Drawing from the Antique.

CERTIFICATES.

Certificates will be given to students who have completed, with credit, the course of study in the regular class.

PUBLIC EXHIBITIONS.

The work of the students will be exhibited at the close of the year.

Department of Bible Teaching.

B. H. CARROLL, PRINCIPAL.

This Department consists of two distinct divisions.

Part First. A double course of Bible study without discriminating reference to ministerial students.

The first course is devoted to a study of all the books of the Bible in regular order--the second course correlates its teachings into a system of doctrine and discipline. All students, male or female, connected or disconnected otherwise with the University, who desire to study God's Word under proper regulations may be received in the class on equal conditions. Recitations twice a week--text-book the Canterbury revision. To any member of the class fairly completing either course, the Principal may issue a simple certificate of the fact based on regular recitations and final examinations.

Part Second. Lectures to Ministerial Students. (1) On Pastoral Duties and Church Order, by Dr. R. C. Burleson. (2) Preparation and Delivery of Sermons, by Dr. J. H. Luther. (3) On other subjects by other lecturers, as may be arranged by Principal of Department and President of the Faculty. The several courses of this Department are voluntary, not compulsory, and no fees are required.

B. H. CARROLL, Principal of the Department.

Normal Department.

J. C. LATTIMORE.

This is now one of the permanent features of the University work. The work consists in a series of discussions of the great underlying principles upon which all correct methods of school management depend, followed by a presentation of such methods as have been tried and found good.

Man, in his three-fold nature, is studied, that those who become teachers may not be ignorant of child nature—the delicate organism whose growth and culture they are to direct.

This is followed by a careful study of the duties which devolve upon those who assume the responsibilities of teaching.

Then comes the study of proper means of bringing the being to be taught and the matter to be presented into the most healthful and fruitful relations to each other.

The course continues through five months, and all who have been regularly admitted into the Preparatory or Collegiate Departments are entitled to its privileges without further charge.

Military Department.

FIRST LIEUTENANT B. B. BUCK, U. S. ARMY, COMMANDANT OF CADETS.

In pursuance of an order of the War Department, upon application of the Board of Trustees and of the Faculty, Lieutenant Buck arrived at Baylor University in December to organize and conduct a Military Department in the institution. The department was regularly established, and suitable rules for the government of cadets adopted by the University authorities. The Cadet Regulations are printed in pamphlet form for distribution. Every cadet is supplied with one on his entrance into the department. It is the aim of the department to develop to the greatest possible extent those soldierly qualities of manliness, courtesy, accuracy, promptness and devotion to duty, so essential to success in the vocations of life. The physical benefits of military drill are scarcely of less importance than the excellent habits acquired. To insure health and prevent diligent students from neglecting their physical development, regular, methodical exercises are necessary. The military drill, embracing seventeen exercises (without arms) for the development of the muscles of the neck, arms, hands, shoulders, chest, trunk, legs and feet, besides the brisk work done in the manual of arms and in marching, meet the requirements of health and bodily development completely. The military drill straightens the body, renders the joints supple and the muscles quick and accurate in action, throws back the head and shoulders, expands the chest, and invigorates all the vital organs—in short, adds a new zest, as well as a new lease, to life.

The United States have furnished the department with one hundred and fifty cadet rifles and equipments.

The uniform, which is of a handsome blue, similar to that worn by the Texas Volunteer Guard, is neat and suitable for wear on all occasions. Cadets are required to wear it at drill. It is more economical than any other clothing a student could wear, as the material is excellent and costs for the suit complete, made to the individual measurements, only $14. Students should remember this in purchasing their clothing for the school year.

The University rules, which take effect on the opening of school in September, 1894, are as follows: "All male students, fourteen years old or older, not physically disqualified and not hereinafter exempted, shall be required to take military drill until they shall have taken it two years.

"Those who may be exempted are: 1. Seniors; 2. Students whose parents or guardians request their exemption; 3. Young men who are defraying their own expenses and who request to be exempted."

A volunteer company of seventy cadets was organized near the beginning of the Spring Term. Next fall it is expected that a battalion of four companies will be organized. No charges are made for instruction in this department.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

PRACTICAL PART. FIRST YEAR. (THREE HOURS A WEEK).

Drills in the schools of the soldier, company and battalion, close and extended order, guard duty, inspection, parade, review and muster military gymnastics.

PRACTICAL PART. SECOND YEAR. (THREE HOURS A WEEK).

Drills in the schools of the company and battalion, close and extended order; rifle firing; guard duty; military signaling (for members pursuing theoretical part); military gymnastics.

Note: It is expected to add artillery drill to the foregoing.

THEORETICAL PART. FIRST YEAR. (ONE HOUR A WEEK).

Recitations in Infantry Drill Regulations, schools of the soldier and company complete, and extended order from par. 502 to 601 inclusive; battalion review, par. 689 to 696 inclusive; guard mounting and battalion parade, par. 712 to 734 inclusive; inspection and muster, par. 739 to 747 and 751 to 753 inclusive; cadet regulations; lectures on guard duty and rifle firing.

THEORETICAL PART. SECOND YEAR. (TWO HOURS A WEEK).

Recitations in Infantry Drill Regulations, school of the battalion, close and extended order; also par. 621 to 688 inclusive, and par. 754 to 769 inclusive; military signaling. Elements of Field Fortifications. Elements of the Art of War. Artillery drill, manual of the piece dismounted (to be added in the near future). Lectures on the Army of the United States, the National Guard, courts-martial and military law, the customs of war, street fighting, riots, etc.

CERTIFICATE OF PROFICIENCY.

To secure the certificate of proficiency in military science and tactics the student must take the two years' course, both practical and theoretical, and stand semi-annual written examinations on the theoretical course, passing each with a grade of at least seventy per cent. Before receiving the certificate a cadet must have completed a sophomore course or a satisfactory equivalent in the University.

Department of Latin.

JAMES F. GREER, A. M.

Pupils are admitted to this department who have read at least three books of Cæsar's Commentaries, and who possess sufficient knowledge of the structure of the language to read Vergil with profit.

Our aims are to secure a thorough knowledge of the forms of the parts of speech and the laws of the structure of the sentence, to acquire the power to read rapidly at sight, to study the authors read as literary models, and to consider the language in its relation to our own and to other cognate languages.

Special attention will be given to Latin meter in connection with Vergil and Horace.

Written translations of English into Latin, based on Latin authors read in class, will be continued throughout the course. Grammar will, to a great extent, be taught inductively, and pupils will be taught to formulate their own rules of Syntax, but the best Latin grammars will be continually employed for reference.

Mythological and historical references will be traced up. Students will be trained to translate into good English. Latin sentences will be judged and corrected by the usage of classic writers and English translations by standard authority.

Constant effort will be made to develop power, originality, critical taste, and scholarly pride, in the use of both English and Latin.

Department of Greek.

The work in this department is intended to give the student an appreciative acquaintance with the best Greek authors, and inspire a love for Hellenic studies. From the beginning of the course exactness will be insisted upon, and the Freshman year will be devoted to a thorough drill in the Forms and the most salient points of Syntax.

In all classes reading at sight will be practised, and English will be put into Greek, either as a set exercise or at dictation. The course is carefully graded and students are urged to take it continuously. At suitable times there will be conferences on the Literature, History, and Art of the Greeks.

For students who may so desire, provision will be made for the study of the New Testament.

Department of Mathematics.

Before entering the advanced classes in mathematics students must pass a satisfactory examination upon the preceding work.

Believing that clear and accurate expression is necessary to clear and accurate thinking, constant effort will be put forth to train the pupils to express accurately and fully mathematical truths. Students will at all times be urged to do their own thinking and mere imitation and memory work will be discouraged.

In Geometry prominence will be given to original solutions. In Surveying especial attention will be given to the use of the Transit, and the class will survey and plat a number of fields selected by the teacher. Students in the A. B. Course are not required to take Surveying, but are advised to do so if they have the time.

English Language and Literature.

The English work in the collegiate department begins with one recitation per week during the Freshman year. The class is occupied during the Fall term in a critical study of English Prose Style. During the Spring term English Poetry is the subject for study and discussion.

In the Sophomore year the class takes up the subject of Rhetoric. It is our aim to make this work practical, and in order to secure this end, the subject is studied by outline. The student is allowed to use any text-book he may desire. During the year twenty-five written exercises are required, including Essays, Critiques, Biographies, and other special forms of composition. Criticism is made a prominent feature of the work of this class.

The English work proper is omitted in the Junior year of the A. B. and the B. S. courses in order to allow more time for the study of History.

In the Senior year the English work is very vigorous, including a careful study and analysis of Taine's English Literature, together with American Literature and English Classics. Much attention is given to the matter of studying literature philosophically.

Those desiring more work of this nature can obtain it in the B. L. course.

Mythology and History.

Mythology is studied on account of its reference to and its connection with History. The class recites twice per week for five months. This branch is taught in the Sophomore year of the A. B. and B. L. courses and in the Junior year of the B. S. course.

Ancient, Mediæval and Modern History is taught throughout the Junior year. In this work we aim to accomplish the following objects: To give the student a clear conception of the sources of historical information; to destroy the belief in the absolute infallibility of the text-book; to encourage thorough investigation and the constant use of a reference library; and above all to cause the student to think, and to read history with the idea of cause and effect constantly before him.

Any one desiring a more extended course in History can find it in the B. L. course.

German and French.

To those who aspire to become scientific or literary scholars, a knowledge of these two languages of culture is almost indispensable. The course covers two years for each language. The aim is to teach rapid sight reading, with correct pronunciation, so that the student may enter upon the study of the literature of those languages with pleasure and profit, and to stimulate to a still more thorough pursuit of the subject afterward. About seven hundred pages, selected from representative writers, will be read in each language.

The rich fields of poetry, of science, of history and of criticism, that will thus be opened to the student will prove elements of power in any profession he may choose.

Natural Sciences.

CHEMISTRY.—The chemical laboratory is fitted up with suitable tables, supplied with gas, water, bowls, waste-pipes, Bunsen burners and chemicals for the use of students in General Chemistry and Qualitative Analysis.

BIOLOGY.—The biological work will extend through one year and a half. A brief text-book course in elementary Botany is supplemented by lectures on the Physiology of plant life. The student is required to do considerable work in the dissection of plants. Constant use is made of compound microscopes and full notes and detail drawings are required.

In Zoology little text book work is required. Ample facilities are provided for the complete dissection of typical animals such as the Cat, Pigeon, Turtle and Starfish. Lectures by the instructor will include General Zoology, distribution of animals and the evidences of evolution.

The Museum.

The aid of friends in securing specimens for the Museum is solicited. Minerals, fossils, zoological and botanical specimens, valuable relics, etc., will be welcomed, properly labeled and displayed.

Acknowledgements are due for recent contributions as follows :

During the summer of 1893 Prof. O. C. Charlton made a geological trip from Austin to the Red River and secured a varied collection of Cretaceous fossils.

Matriculation.

It is the duty of all students to report promptly to the President for Matriculation on their arrival in Waco.

Certificates of good character, and of honorable dismissal from any other college previously attended presented to the President are prerequisite to Matriculation.

Matriculation shall consist of three things:

1st. Examination and Classification.

2nd. Payment to the Collector or Treasurer of all required dues, of which fact that officer's receipt with the coupons of Classification attached, is the only proof.

3rd. Registration.

Any teacher receiving into his class a student without legal evidence of Matriculation shall be held responsible for all his dues.

It shall be the duty of the Registrar to promptly notify the parent or guardian of Matriculation, enclosing laws of the Institution.

WITHDRAWAL.

Permission of withdrawal shall not be granted except for ill health, inability to pursue College duties, or some unavoidable necessity, or by the written request of the parent or guardian. It is earnestly requested that no parent withdraw his son or daughter just before the examination, for trivial causes. Such withdrawals are highly disreputable and injurious to the student. Any student who shall leave the University without permission, signed by the President, shall be suspended ipso facto.

Discipline---General Regulations.

The discipline of the University is always as nearly parental as possible. The University is intended to be a great literary family, bound together by love, mutual interest, and kind offices. Appeals will always be made first to the tenderest, noblest impulses of the heart. Severer remedies will only be used when these fail. A special Monitor is appointed daily whose duty it shall be to report to the President every disorder and violation of the law, and in the discharge of his duty he shall receive all due respect.

Every teacher is as much an officer of discipline as of instruction, and must at all times use his utmost diligence to preserve order and to inspire his pupils with the love of study and true scholarly bearing, and must regard as paramount to other matters, his duties in the University. Each student shall pursue diligently the course of study prescribed for him by the Faculty ; failing to do so, he shall first be affectionately admonished, and unless reclaimed shall be suspended from the institution or otherwise punished.

Young men shall not in any way intrude upon the study hall, recitation room or campus of the young ladies. A violation of this rule will subject the offender to severe discipline at the discretion of the Faculty.

The laws of the University, containing specific regulations, are published separately and a copy must be procured and read by each student upon matriculation. These laws extend over the whole period from the commencement to the close of the session, no portion of the week being exempt from them.

Expenses.

FOR FIVE SCHOLASTIC MONTHS.

Except by special contract, all tuition must be paid five months in advance.

No deduction except for long, severe personal illness or death.

No deduction for absence for the last four weeks of either five months term.

Boarding Houses.

In order that pupils may have as nearly as possible the refining influences of true homes thrown around them, that they shall be regular in attendance on all their recitations, and guarded against improper associations, the Trustees in consultation with the Faculty have made the following arrangements :

The President will keep a list of approved boarding houses for the accommodation of male students, but no one will be allowed to board in any family the head of which will not report all violations of law when called upon, or where there are persons likely to lead them astray.

MAGGIE HOUSTON HALL.

A large number of young men room and board in the old University buildings on the corner of Fifth and Webster streets. They organize themselves into a club and thus reduce the expense of good table board to a minimum, $7 per month. Each student pays $1 per month room rent, each room being occupied by two, three, or four students. Students provide their own furniture at slight cost and care for their own rooms.

The entire average cost of table board, room rent, furnishing of room, fuel and light in many cases does not exceed $9.50 per month.

No young man will be received into the Hall, except on the best evidence of good moral character, nor retained if his conduct is not exemplary. The success of the Hall has been eminently satisfactory, and the Faculty earnestly commend it to students. It is under the special supervision of Prof. O. C. Charlton and wife, assisted by Prof. W. A. Harris.

GEORGIA BURLESON HALL.

All young ladies not living in Waco are required to board in the Georgia Burleson Hall, a magnificent building with seventy-five rooms, erected and furnished especially for that purpose. Young ladies may board with a near relative, who will promise to see that all rules of the University are faithfully observed, and report to the President every violation of law.

The advantages of boarding in the institution, however, must be patent to all from several reasons :

(a) Better accommodations and at cheaper rates than can be found elsewhere. (b) Systematic hours of study and recreation. (c) Protection against interruption of every kind. (d) The watchful care and counsel of the lady teachers in all the details of general deportment and social etiquette. No private family can afford equal facilities for study and general improvement.

Parents are earnestly requested not to send boxes of edibles to their daughters. We desire to assure them that there will be no cause to complain of the fare furnished the young ladies.

The occupants of each room will be held responsible for proper care of the furniture therein, and charged with any unnecessary damage or loss.

SPECIAL REGULATIONS.

Each young lady will furnish her own towels, soap, combs, brushes, pillow-slips, sheets, two blankets and napkins. She is also expected to provide herself with one spoon, knife and fork, saucer and goblet, for use in her room. This regulation is to prevent the dishes of the dining room being taken up stairs. Each young lady is required to have every article of her wardrobe legibly marked with her full name. Each student is requested to supply herself with comfortable wraps, rubbers and umbrella.

Young ladies are required to study two hours at night and at such other times as the Faculty may direct. Each boarder is required to attend Sunday-school and church under the supervision of the governess, or some of the female teachers.

Correspondence will be under the direction and inspection of the governess. No letter or note shall be sent to or from the boarding house without her approval. Any student sending or carrying communications, except such as may be approved by the presiding teacher, will be liable to suspension.

Young men having sisters or other female relatives in the boarding house, can call on them Saturdays, at from 2 to 4 p. m., but at no other time, except by special permission from the President, Matron or Governess.

Young ladies coming from a distance to enter the University are requested to notify Professor James F. Greer, in advance, of the time of their intended arrival, that he may meet them at the train. Young ladies visiting home during the session are required to observe the same rule.

Boarders cannot be allowed to spend the night with friends in the city, and it is earnestly hoped that no parent will make any such request.

Our boarders are not allowed on the streets unless accompanied by a teacher or matron ; nor to open accounts at any store ; nor to make any purchases without the approval of the matron or teacher in charge ; nor to borrow from, nor to lend to each other money, jewelry or clothing.

UNIFORMS.

There are many reasons why uniformity of dress should be a positive requirement in a boarding school. The children of the rich and the poor are necessarily brought together in the school room, and anything that makes marked distinction in dress is both unwise and unjust. The adoption of a plain, simple, and inexpensive uniform places a check upon the extravagance of such as are fond of display, and removes all causes of mortification on the part of those unable to afford it. Extravagant display is a blighting curse on our country, and the seeds are often sown in a boarding school where pride to excel in expensive dressing is allowed to prevail. The uniform will not be required as a daily dress, but must be worn on all public occasions.

The uniform for fall and winter term will not be decided on until after the opening of the school, hence young ladies will not be required to be in uniform until a month or so thereafter. We intend that it shall be neat and inexpensive. To secure entire uniformity and the greatest cheapness, it should be purchased and made in Waco. It can be made at home, however, if parents prefer.

For every-day use plain dresses must be worn. This will be insisted on. Parents are requested not to allow their daughters to purchase and wear handsome and expensive jewelry while at school, as all such unnecessary ornaments will be entirely out of place with their simple dress. We hope to have the hearty support of parents in this particular, as well as in all other matters pertaining to the interest of the University.

When it is desired that any article of dress should be procured after reaching school, Mrs. Virginia L. Greer, or a responsible teacher, will take pleasure in directing the purchases of the young ladies and in securing the best terms for them.

A deposit sufficient to meet all expenses of this character must be made with Prof. James F. Greer before the purchase, and the pupil will be limited to the amount deposited. No money will be advanced to any pupil beyond what she may have to her credit, unless by special arrangement previously made.

All mail matter, express packages, telegrams and money for the young ladies should be sent in care of Prof. James F. Greer.

DISCIPLINE.

The discipline in the Georgia Burleson Hall will be mild but firm. If pupils come with the expectation of doing right because it is right there will be no trouble. Our cardinal principle will certainly be insisted on—prompt obedience to every rule of the department, and its reasonableness or unreasonableness will not be argued with the pupil. All that can be done by careful oversight, private admonition, and personal appeal, will be done to secure cheerful obedience to our regulations.

General Statements.

LOCATION AND HEALTH.

As a healthy location Waco is unsurpassed. It is situated on the western bank of the Brazos river, having no bottom lands for some distance above and below, and a high rolling prairie commencing at the bank of the river and extending fifty miles south, giving an elevated position with the full benefit of the south breezes and above malaria or any local causes of sickness in summer. Waco is also protected on the north and east by the cedar hills of the Bosque and the dense "Cross Timbers"; and is thus protected from the fierce north winds in winter. Besides, monthly statistics recently published by the cities of Waco, Boston and San Antonio, demonstrate the fact that Waco is healthier than these great cities, considered the healthiest in the United States. And with Waco's recently developed artesian wells her health will be increased at least five per cent. The hospitality, the intelligence and the enterprise of Waco are widely known and she has long been known as the "Athens of Texas," and the "City of Churches and Schools".

TEXAS EDUCATION.

We have every reason to be gratified at the amount of patronage we have received; yet, can but regret the disposition of some parents to send their sons and daughters to distant states. Such parents seem to forget that they are depriving them of many of the sweetest joys of future life—the joys of meeting everywhere old schoolmates—and also a powerful means of success. A student remaining in Baylor University three or four years will form intimate and pleasant associations with hundreds of young men and ladies from every part of Texas.

Besides all this, it is a fact that colleges, like states, usually produce their greatest men while young and struggling for “a name and place in history.” Baylor University boldly challenges a comparison between her students and those Texas students educated in other institutions. Not less than 300 students are sent out of Texas annually at a cost of $300,000—a sum sufficient to sustain two such institutions as Yale or Harvard; and abundant facts show that young men and ladies educated in Texas are in every way equal to those educated in other states. But this evil has well nigh run its course. Experience is a dear school, but a certain class of the human family can learn in no other way.

FINANCES.

We shall be compelled in the future to be more rigid in collecting tuition and board. We have been greatly embarrassed in carrying forward the University to its high position. Patrons must, when they enter their sons and daughters or wards, pay their tuition and board bills in advance. This will be insisted on in every case. In case of protracted personal illness or death, money paid in advance will be refunded; but in no other case. No money in future will be advanced on the current expenses of students. Parents must make a deposit to meet such expenses. Parents should not remit money to students for extra clothing, except upon the request of a teacher. Hundreds of dollars are uselessly spent in this way every year, to the great injury of the parent's pocket and a far greater injury to the student's progress and Baylor University.

YOUNG PREACHERS AND PREACHERS' CHILDREN.

No young preacher will be received as a beneficiary in the University unless he is a licentiate and brings a certificate that his church believes he is called of God to preach and will aid as far as possible in his support. We entreat brethren to be careful whom they recommend. Recommend none but the humble, the pure and the true. Every young minister will hereafter give a note for the amount of his tuition and for the amount furnished him by the education fund, payable six months after he enters upon any other calling or profession, or ceases to devote his time to preaching. We want to help no young man who will not help himself, and whose soul is not burning with a desire to preach the gospel and who will not manifest that desire by preaching at least once a month while in the University.

All Baptist preachers in active work of the gospel ministry, who will become active agents for the enlistment of students for Baylor University, at Waco, and who will undertake to give the institution the full benefit of their influence in their respective circles, shall have tuition for their minor children in the regular course without other charge than matriculation and graduation fees.

EXTRAVAGANCE.

It is difficult to control in matters of money-spending where there is such a diversity of taste and means among our patrons and students. But all experience in colleges and universities demonstrates that the unrestrained use of money ruins the one guilty of the folly. Every dollar furnished to students beyond actual wants—as seen in the published rates, or signified in writing to parents by the teacher—is a positive injury to the student and University.

MORAL AND RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

The faculty will constantly aim to imbue the mind and heart of the student with a deep sense of honor and moral excellence. As the Bible is the only foundation of morals and religion, its teachings will be often and solemnly enforced. Although the University is a Baptist institution and belongs to the Baptist denomination, nothing sectarian will be taught in the daily recitations. Special attention will be given to Sabbath-school instruction and Bible classes; and every student is required to attend public worship at such place as his parents or guardian may designate. If no special place is designated the young ladies will accompany the teacher to the Baptist church.

The students' prayer-meeting is held in the University Chapel every Friday night. A permanent organization has been effected under the name of the Students' Christian Association, which has stated meetings for prayer, songs, and in the interest of missions. Also on Sunday afternoons there is preaching in the University Chapel by students of the school. All students are kindly urged to become members of the Students' Christian Association, to attend its meetings, and to enter fully into the religious life of the University.

EXAMINATIONS.

At the close of each term, or whenever particular studies are completed, examinations will be held. These examinations will usually be written; though oral examinations may be held on any subject at the discretion of the professor in charge. Students necessarily absent from the regular examination, must pass a special examination before they can enter their proper class or receive their grades. In order to pass the student must secure a term examination grade of at least seventy per cent., and the average of his term examinations and monthly grades shall be at least seventy per cent.

CO-EDUCATION.

Thirty-two years ago, after profound reflection and investigation, co-education was adopted in Waco University, and, since consolidation, has been retained in Baylor University. Students of both sexes recite in the same classes and meet daily in the same chapel, but occupy separate rooms for study, have separate grounds for exercise, and board in separate buildings.

Co-education not only excites greater diligence in study, but cultivates in young men, manliness and morality, and in young women neatness, order and modesty. It also greatly diminishes useless sentimentality and clandestine correspondence. Daily intercourse under the eyes of the teachers and emulation in study dispel that enchantment which distance always lends.

We have tried both systems and know whereof we affirm, from long experience and close observation.

During the last thirty years this institution, i. e., Waco University until 1886, and Baylor University since, has graduated more young ladies than any other institution west of the Mississippi River, and we challenge any institution in America to show higher models of scholarship, neatness, modesty, and all qualifications which adorn the pure woman.

After witnessing such results we are not surprised to see the great universities of the world, such as London, Oxford, Cambridge, Edinburgh, Copenhagen, Harvard, Cornell, Michigan and Chicago, adopt co-education in some form. The old Romanist Convent and Monastery system of education must give way before the march of progress and common sense.

PHYSICAL CULTURE.

The utility of physical culture is so evident that we need not speak of it at length. It affords relief to the monotony of the school room, arouses the mental energies of the pupils, and seldom fails to give life and zest to the recitations which follow. The success of light muscular gymnastics warrants us in making this a permanent feature in the University. We have a perfect department of gymnastics and calisthenics, not to divert from but to aid in study. To this end the Military Department, explained elsewhere, has been established for the boys, and we purpose as soon as practicable to add and furnish a gymnasium building for the girls.

OUR FIVE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Nothing more clearly indicates the life and prosperity of Baylor University than the flourishing condition of the Philomathesian, Erisophian, Adelphian, Calliopean and Rufus C. Burleson Societies.

Three of these are composed of gentlemen and two of ladies.

These societies are intended to awaken and cultivate a love of reading and literary taste, and to drill the student in oral debate and writing essays, and a profound practical knowledge of parliamentary usage in conducting deliberative assemblies. Every student is urged to become an active member of some one of these societies.

The Adelpian Society is composed of young preachers, and devoted especially to theological investigations and discussions of all the doctrines of the Bible.

Libraries and Reading Rooms.

There are now in the various Libraries of Baylor University, exclusive of a large number of Government publications, nearly six thousand bound volumes and several hundred valuable pamphlets, distributed as follows :

GENERAL LIBRARY.

Here in a well furnished room are two thousand, three hundred and ten bound volumes and one hundred and sixty-three pamphlets. This includes the recent donation of the magnificent library of the late and lamented Dr. J. A. Kimball, which alone consists of one thousand, two hundred and thirty-seven bound volumes.

SOCIETY LIBRARIES.

In the rooms of our five Literary Societies are three thousand, six hundred and thirty-seven bound volumes and two hundred and ninety-six pamphlets. A casual visitor would not realize the number and value of these well selected publications because they are distributed in six separate rooms.

READING ROOMS.

During the past year elegant and well furnished reading rooms have been fitted up in Georgia Burleson and Maggie Houston Halls, on whose tables may be found the purest current literature, embodied in magazines and papers. We invite donations to these libraries and reading rooms.

Summer Session and Normal Institute.

For years there has been a growing demand for a Summer School affording opportunities for thorough review in common, high school and collegiate branches, and at the same time enabling the student to push his work into branches not hitherto studied.

This demand has come from young men and women wishing to bring up any irregularities in their courses so that they might enter regularly into collegiate classes, and from teachers whose preparatory educational advantages have been limited, and who feel that they cannot do without two or three years' wages while attending college, but who are glad to avail themselves of opportunities for attending school during months when they must otherwise be idle, or only partially occupied.

To meet this demand the Trustees have established a Summer Session and Normal Institute, beginning immediately after the close of the regular ten months' session.

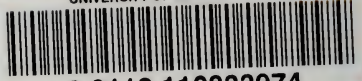

In doing this they have such company as University of Virginia, Cornell, Harvard, Chicago University, Cambridge, and many other institutions among the oldest and best in America and Europe.

For more particular information concerning the Summer Session, write to the President.
